E-commerce for a Decent Life
Final Oral Presentation

Objective

You will deliver an oral presentation in which you present the plan for an e-commerce website that promotes the concept of a decent life from both a philosophical and social perspective.
Your goal is to explain your idea clearly and persuasively, describing what your website would be like, what it would sell, and how it connects to the idea of a decent life.

Task Instructions

Your presentation should include the following sections:

1. Introduction

- Briefly introduce yourself (and your team, if applicable).
- State the proposed name of your website and its main purpose.
- Explain what a "decent life" means to you, based on your work in philosophy. You may refer to ideas such as:
    - Access to basic needs (food, housing, education, health)
    - Respect for human dignity and equality
    - Opportunities for personal growth and participation
    - Living with fairness, empathy, and responsibility
- Explain how your e-commerce project would promote or reflect this idea.
- This section will be carried out in Spanish.

Example:

"Hello, we're Team Horizon. For us, a decent life means living with dignity, equality, and access to opportunities. Our project, GreenTrade, would support this idea by connecting local artisans with fair buyers, helping them earn a sustainable income."

2. Products, purpose and visual identity.

Describe the products your website would sell and why they are meaningful:

- What kind of products would your e-commerce offer? (e.g., handmade crafts, eco-friendly clothing, educational resources, local food, digital art, etc.)
- How do these products relate to the concept of a decent life?
- Who are your target customers and producers or suppliers?
- How would your project promote ethical or sustainable values (e.g., fair trade, inclusion, environmental awareness)?
- What decision have you made in regards of the visual identity of your e-commerce? (moodboard)
- This section will be carried out in English.

Example:

“Our site would sell sustainable fashion made from recycled materials. Each product is designed by local artists, creating opportunities and reducing textile waste.”

3. Target Users and Social Impact

- Describe who your website is for and how it helps them.
- Explain how your project could make a positive impact on the community or environment.
- Mention one ethical or social goal your site would support (e.g., reducing inequality, supporting local economies, promoting education).
- This section will be carried out in Spanish.

4. Future Vision and Closing

- Summarize the main strengths of your project idea.
- Mention one future product or improvement you would like to include.
- End with a strong, memorable statement that reflects your project’s mission.
- This section will be carried out in English.

Example:

“We believe GreenTrade could make online shopping more responsible and human, reminding us that every purchase is a step toward a fairer world.”

Timing

Your presentation should last 5–10 minutes.
If you’re working in a team, all members must participate.

Visual Aids

You may use:

- Slides (PowerPoint, Google Slides, or Canva)
- Your mood board or logo design
- Product sketches, sample images, or catalog mockups

Evaluation Criteria

Category	Description	Max Points
Content & Organization	Clear structure (introduction, technical overview, demo, closing). Information is relevant and complete.	25
Understanding of "A Decent Life"	The concept is clearly defined and meaningfully connected to the project's goals and features.	25
Delivery & Communication	Confident, clear, well-paced speech with professional tone and pronunciation.	20
Use of Visuals	Effective and creative use of slides, mood board, and/or website.	15
Creativity & Impact	Original and engaging presentation that leaves a positive impression.	15

Total: 100 points